

LUCYBON Syngkli

MEGHALAYA

Lucybon Syngkli lives with her sisters and father in Nongpoh town. She is the sole breadwinner of the house. She is an ASHA worker and also a pineapple cultivator. The family earlier lived in a kutcha house which had very high repair cost, especially during the rainy season. Since, she is the only earning member of the family, it was unimaginable for Lucybon to build a pucca house. Owing to the high cost of repair of the house, the father's day to day medical expenditure were compromised.

Her confidence rose and she felt more secure about her future when she became a beneficiary under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban) [PMAY(U)]. She is grateful to the Mission for providing her family with a permanent shelter which is all weather. Since, the house doesn't need substantive repairs, the family ends up saving money and is able to provide for medical treatment of their father. Alongwith the house, Lucybon has been an active participant of the Angikaar campaign. The family undertakes rainwater harvesting, has planted fruiting trees, received a gas connection under PM-UJJWALA Yojana and has also been able to get access to LED bulbs. Their new home has made Lucybon Syngkli's father content and he feels secured for the family.
